

Supplemental Figure 2: Abnormal iliofemoral ligament is seen in newborn histology. Similar sagittal sections of wild-type and mutant newborns (medial to lateral, A – E) show an abnormal iliofemoral ligament attachment site at the midshaft of the femur (arrow) but no major differences in the surrounding musculature.

